

11 Japanese War Leaders Arrested For Their Crimes

By RUSSELL BRINES
Tokyo, Nov. 19 (AP)—Eleven Japanese war leaders, including generals accused of responsibility for the assault on Nanking, the Mukden incident and the bombing of the U. S. gunboat Panay, were ordered arrested today.

Simultaneously, headquarters announced that 57 more accused Japanese war criminals—mostly minor characters charged with brutalities against war prisoners—were in custody.

General MacArthur directed that the 11 be delivered to Sugamo prison camp, Tokyo.

While the men were not specifically named as war criminals, all were associated prominently with the militarist decade and include some of the key men previously ignored in American lists of "wanted" Japanese.

2 In Axis Pact

Two of the Japanese—Yosuke Matsuoka, former foreign minister, and Toshio Shiratori, former ambassador to Rome, were instrumental in negotiating the tripartite (Germany-Italy-Japan) pact.

Others were:

Baron Gen. Shigeru Honjo, former commander in chief of the Kwantung army, considered responsible for the Mukden incident, which Japan used as an excuse to conquer Manchuria.

Gen. Iwane Matsu, retired, blamed for the rape of Nanking and the bombing of the Panay.

Gen. Kuniaki Koiso, premier for a time in 1944 who as chief of staff of the Kwantung army also had a hand in Manchuria's conquest.

Gen. Jiro Minami, once known as the brains of the militarist clique and one of the men who helped force selection of the "Pearl Harbor Premier," Hideki Tojo.

Tojo's Influence

Gen. Sadao Araki, former war minister, styled by MacArthur "an important influence behind Tojo."

Yoshihisa Kuzuu and Kazunobu Kanokogi, both top leaders in the Black Dragon society of Jingoistic terrorists.

Fusanosuke Kuhara, millionaire industrialist and politician, recently mentioned as a possible leader of a new political setup, and reported Black Dragonist.

Gen. Jinzaburo Mazaki, army extremist, close associate of Koiso and Araki.

Matsuoka is a graduate of the University of Oregon and once headed the south Manchurian railway. Unconfirmed reports yesterday said he unsuccessfully had attempted suicide by poison at his villa near Tokyo.

The list of war leaders ordered imprisoned stretched back into Japan's troubled period in the late 1920's and early 1930's, when the so-called "younger officers" began a reign of terror which eventually won militarists domestic power.

The "Real Brains"

Koiso, whom well informed Japanese civilians term the "real brains" of the army, recently was linked by Mazaki in a newspaper interview with an abortive coup d'etat in 1931 to seize control of the government.

Mazaki in turn was accused by headquarters with having had a key role in a revolt February 29, 1936.

Behind all the intrigue, plots and counterplots suggested by this roll of rightists were such figures as the Black Dragon members and blatant imperialists such as Araki, whose boast long quoted by Jingoists was:

"Give me one Japanese division armed with bamboo spears and I'll wipe out the entire Russian far eastern army."

Equally insidious but more anonymous, Minami long was considered a key man in the Kwantung army clique which through terror finally won domestic power culminating in Tojo's dictatorship. Minami in the mid-1930's often was called the "real ruler of Japan" but actually his individual power was less than Tojo's.

Gets 30-Day Term For Disorderliness

Frank Lida, Gettysburg, was arrested Friday evening by Borough Officer Paul B. Shearer on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct about 9:30 o'clock on Chambersburg street and lodged in jail. Police said they were called when Lida reportedly chased children while waving a hatchet in his hand. Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder sent Lida to jail for 30 days in default of payment of a $10 fine.

CHARLES SHULTZ FINED

Charles Shultz, Gettysburg, was fined $5 and costs Saturday by Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore on a school law violation. School authorities, who laid the charge, alleged that Shultz failed to send his child to school. He pleaded guilty.

TWO WHO HEARD LINCOLN IN '63 HERE FOR 82ND

Two white-haired men who as young boys heard Lincoln deliver his immortal Gettysburg address 82 years ago stood with heads bared Saturday afternoon in the National cemetery at anniversary exercises conducted by the Gettysburg camp of the Sons of Veterans.

Congressman Chester H. Gross of the York-Adams-Franklin district was the speaker.

William C. Storrick, 69, retired superintendent of battlefield guides here, and Edward A. Trostle, 86, East Middle street, on Saturday heard frock-coated P. J. Kammerer, Lincoln impersonator from Newville, repeat the words Lincoln delivered on the same spot at the dedication of the National cemetery.

Calls for Re-dedication

William L. Meals, Esq., chairman of the Sons of Veterans' committee, presided over the brief exercises that included the placing of a wreath on the grave of an unknown soldier by Harry E. Koch, commander of the SUV camp. The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. Dr. Ralph R. Gresh, St. James Lutheran pastor. The Sons of Veterans Reserves sent a uniformed color guard to the exercises.

"The heartaches, the grief, the hopes, the prayers and the faith of a liberty-loving people were expressed by him (Lincoln) in simple words," Congressman Gross declared. "They have become engraved in the minds of men forever."

"Our nation today needs leadership of his homely virtue and simple philosophy. Lincoln dedicated himself to the great task before him. Let us, a free people, re-dedicate ourselves to the principles for which he stood. This is the only way we can successfully solve the grave problems confronting us. We are the stewards of his trust and faith in us."

Calls For Changes

He continued:

"If Lincoln were here speaking to us today I believe he would be saying: It is time for a new birth of freedom from regimentation in our America."

"It is time for freedom from all forms of intolerance."

"It is time for America to live within her income."

"It is time to demonstrate that constitutionally organized freedom and truly representative government are far better for America than communism or national socialism."

Time For Changes

"It is time to emphasize the value of a reasonable separation of local from federal functions and of the executive from the legislative branch of our federal government."

"It is time to develop dependable prosperity through increased production and widened distribution of newly created wealth."

"It is time to liberate the natural strength of large and small private enterprise and to encourage the production, distribution, and sale of the products of American shops and farms, both at home and abroad. This means seeing to it that our economy and our government are agencies of freedom and progress suited to our needs and equal to the hopes of our young people who have fought this war and who are looking for results worthy of their sacrifices and their efforts."

MARK LINCOLN ANNIVERSARY

One hundred and sixty-eight persons attended the 15th annual Lincoln speech anniversary banquet at the Hotel Gettysburg Saturday evening when Dr. Frank Faust, superintendent of schools in Chambersburg, was the guest speaker. The banquet was held by the Past Commanders and Past Presidents' association of south-central Pennsylvania.

Lt. John H. Runkle, Harrisburg, an officer of the Sons of Veterans Reserves, introduced the toastmaster, Col. Leroy Stout, Reading, a past commander-in-chief of the Pennsylvania brigade of the SVR. Charles Crosley, of Harrisburg, recited Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

A number of officers of affiliated organizations attended the affair including Arthur W. Noll, Allentown, department commander of the Sons of Veterans and Mrs. Martha Wilson, Carlisle, president of the sponsoring organization. The Rev. Floyd Carroll, pastor of the Gettysburg Methodist church, delivered the invocation and pronounced the benediction.

A dance followed the banquet with music being provided by the Junior Jivers of Gettysburg high school.

STEAL HUB CAPS

Two hub caps were stolen from the automobile of John Sheads, 141 East Middle street, while it was parked in front of his home Sunday night, according to a report made to borough police.

Half Of Victory Quota Attained

Adams county passed the half-way mark in its Victory Loan drive today with announcement of $466,204.75 in sales. This includes E bond sales of $112,315.50. There remains $423,795.25 worth of Victory bonds to be sold to reach the quota of $890,000.

Thirty-two per cent of the E bond quota of $350,000 has been attained. 52.3 per cent of the entire quota has been reached and 66 per cent of the quota of all bonds to individuals, except E bonds, has been attained.

With half of the quota sold county war finance committee officials expressed confidence to-day that the full goal will be attained if the volunteer workers continue their intensive efforts to contact every resident in the county.

STRAUSBAUGHS WIN IN COURT

After deliberating nearly four hours a jury returned a verdict Saturday afternoon in favor of the defendants, Paul and Dwight Strausbaugh, executors of the will of their father, Edward P. Strausbaugh, in the damage action brought by Harold C. Gabler, Chambersburg.

Gabler, owner of a gasoline tank truck which was damaged in the accident, asked damages of more than $3,000 for repair of his truck, and loss of profits during the time it was idle.

The suit was a result of a crash between Gabler's truck and a truck owned by the late Mr. Strausbaugh while the latter vehicle was stopped on the Westminster-Belesterstown highway before dawn on January 19, 1944.

Testimony differed on the position of the truck on the highway. The plaintiff claimed it was parked near the center of the highway close to a curve on a hillcrest without lights or flares. Byron Kint, driver of the Strausbaugh truck, testified the truck was partly off the highway and that he was in the act of getting flares out of his truck to put on the highway when the crash occurred. No one was injured in the mishap.

The Gabler-Strausbaugh suit was the last for jury trial at November court. William Sinner, East Berlin, is to be tried without a jury by Judge W. C. Sheely Wednesday on two charges of assault involving two East Berlin boys.

To Mail Licenses To Restaurants

New state licenses for rural restaurants, required under the Restaurant Sanitation law, will be mailed direct from Harrisburg instead of being delivered individually by the county sanitarian, William I. Shields, it was announced today.

The first of the new licenses was sent out from Harrisburg on Saturday. It had been planned originally to have Mr. Shields make delivery of all of the licenses. The mail plan was decided upon to save time and expense.

More Discharged By Army And Navy

Among those discharged from the army at Indiantown Gap were T/5 John Biesacker, Cashtown; S/Sgt. William B. Griffin, 144 Hanover street; T/4 Charles A. Menges, East Berlin; and T/5 Charles L. McGlaughlin, Fairfield.

Enroute home for discharges are Pfc. Robert A. Staub, 311 North street, McSherrystown, aboard the USS West Virginia; Bernard F. Linn, MMS 2/C, husband of Mrs. Olga M. Linn, 100 Buford avenue, aboard the USS Hornet, and Donald M. Jacobs, CM 1/C (CD), Gettysburg also aboard the Hornet.

Paul W. Martin, ship's cook, third class, husband of Mrs. Alma Martin, 2 Wall street, has been discharged after service with the submarine, USS Tunny.

Christian Science Service Thursday

The Christian Science society of Gettysburg will hold its Thanksgiving service Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Included in the program will be the reading of the Thanksgiving proclamation by President Truman.

An indication that Kaltenbrunner would not be present at the scheduled opening tomorrow of the trial of top-flight Nazis came from physicians at the 11th U. S. Army hospital where he was rushed for treatment. The doctors said he "was finished" with the trial, at least temporarily.

The spokesman in the office of Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief U. S. prosecutor, said the court itself would decide whether Kaltenbrunner would be tried at a later date when his condition improved or be brought into the trial. The prosecution regards Kaltenbrunner as the No. 4 defendant among the list of indicted Nazis.

SEMINARY WILL GIVE DEGREES TO 13; LICENSE 10

At its fourth graduation exercises in a year under the accelerated program, the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological seminary on Tuesday evening will confer the degree of bachelor of divinity upon 13 prospective ministers, 10 of whom will be licensed by the Central Pennsylvania Synod at the same service.

The Rev. Dr. Carl Robert Simon, an alumnus of the seminary who now is pastor of the Keller Memorial Lutheran church in Washington, D. C., will deliver the address to the graduating class.

The licensure of the 10 candidates will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Mervin R. Hamsher, president of the Central Pennsylvania Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America. The conferring of degrees will be by Dr. Abdel Ross Wentz, president of the seminary.

Next Graduation In February

In addition to the baccalaureate degrees to the 13 graduating students the post graduate degree of master of sacred theology will be conferred upon Vernon French Frazier, pastor of the St. James Evangelical Lutheran church at Sumter, South Carolina.

The men who will receive the degree of bachelor of divinity are: Howard Oscar Bailly, Allentown; Claude Raymond Baublitz, Glen Rock; Norman Lester Bortner, Glen Rock; Samuel Roy Frank, Jr., Phillipsburg, Pa.; Edwin Dreese Freed, Beavertown, Pa.; John Wagner Harkins, State College; Louis Karl Heldorfer, Jr., Baltimore; Lester Dean Keasey, Hollidaysburg; Robert Leland Lang, Washington, D. C.; Ernest Peter Leer, York Springs; F. Elwood Moreland, Washington, D. C.; Franklin Edward Patschke, Lebanon, and Edward Kendig Stipe, York.

All but Messrs. Heldorfer, Lang and Moreland are to be licensed at the same service.

The graduation and licensure service will be held in the Church of the Abiding Presence on the seminary campus.

Last May the seminary graduated a class at the usual time. In August three more students were graduated and the next graduation will be in February.

LINCOLN GROUP HOLD LUNCHEON

Dr. J. Walter Coleman, superintendent of the Gettysburg National Military Park, is the speaker for the luncheon meeting of the Lincoln Fellowship of Gettysburg being held this afternoon at the Hotel Gettysburg, the first meeting of the organization in several years. Meetings were suspended during the war.

Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of the Fellowship, and Henry Laurs, Shippensburg, the secretary, said the reorganization of the group is to take place at a business session later in the afternoon.

Dr. C. Percy Powell, curator of the Lincoln papers of the Library of Congress placed in that institution by Robert Lincoln under seal until 1947, is expected to attend this afternoon's session of the Fellowship along with Bert Sheldon, president of the Lincoln Fellowship of Washington, D. C.

A number of local residents are among the approximately 25 gathered for the luncheon. The group includes Burgess Fred G. Pfeiffer; John D. Lippy, Jr.; Dean W. E. Tilberg and Dr. R. S. Saby.

Weather Forecast

Occasional rain tonight. Tuesday clearing and slightly colder.

Ex-Chief Of Nazi Police Suffers Brain Hemorrhage

Nuernberg, Germany, Nov. 19 (AP)—Ernst Kaltenbrunner, former chief of the Nazi security police, suffered a brain hemorrhage in his cell last night, but a spokesman for the U. S. prosecutor's office said today he would have to answer charges sometime before the International War Crimes tribunal.

An indication that Kaltenbrunner would not be present at the scheduled opening tomorrow of the trial of top-flight Nazis came from physicians at the 11th U. S. Army hospital where he was rushed for treatment. The doctors said he "was finished" with the trial, at least temporarily.

Thanksgiving Tea Held By B-P Club

Mrs. H. C. Michael, Springs avenue, was the speaker at the Thanksgiving Tea held Sunday evening at the YWCA building by the Business and Professional Women's club.

Forty-seven members and guests attended.

Mrs. Clyde Little sang, "Thanks Be to God," and was accompanied by Miss Jeanne Spangler. Mrs. Paul A. Kinsey played as a piano solo a nocturne from Chopin.

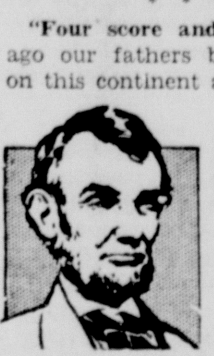

Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies, nuts and mints were served by the refreshment committee, Miss Roberta Bittinger, chairman.

A special guest at the tea was Mrs. A. R. Wentz, president of the YWCA board of directors.

Here And There News Collected At Random

The immortal words of Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, delivered in the Gettysburg National Cemetery 82 years ago today, are reprinted because they hold a truer meaning and a far greater significance to the key to world peace than ever before.

"Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field, as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here; but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain for that nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

The world powers may well adhere to the principles of peace so truthfully and beautifully expressed by Mr. Lincoln here more than three-quarters of a century ago. Each year his words take on a greater significance. Each year this deathless address is read by millions; many for the first time.

Let us all commit these words to memory and put into practice those admirable things advocated by the martyred Lincoln.

OFFICIAL COUNT INCREASES LEAD OF MRS. SHEFFER

Completion of the tabulation of the soldier vote, counted at the offices of the Adams county commissioners Friday and Saturday, increases the lead of Mrs. Emma E. Sheffer, Gettysburg Republican, to 585 over her Democratic opponent, Bernard Brashears, New Oxford former serviceman, for clerk of the courts. There were 124 military ballots received.

Mrs. Sheffer received 63 soldier votes to 45 for Brashears. Her final official total is 4,223 and for Brashears 3,638.

Donald C. Stallsmith, Gettysburg Republican, received 60 soldier votes, and Chester E. Mehring, Democrat, Gettysburg, 49, for county treasurer. Added to the previous totals, this gave Mr. Stallsmith 4,064 and Mr. Mehring 3,643, a majority of 421 for Mr. Stallsmith.

The soldier vote added 17 to the total for C. A. Helges, Republican and new burgess of Gettysburg. Charles B. Dougherty, Democrat, received 11 soldier votes. The totals are: Helges, 1,067; Dougherty, 646; a majority of 421 for Helges.

Vote For Sheely

Fifty-eight Republican and 48 Democratic votes were counted for Judge W. C. Sheely, bringing his combined total vote to 7,570.

The soldier vote for judges of the superior court gave A. Marshall Thompson and John Morgan Davis, Democrats, 43 and 48 respectively, and John C. Arnold and W. Heber Dithrich, Republicans, 59 and 51. This made the total vote for these candidates in Adams county, Thompson, 3,157; Davis, 3,038; Arnold, 3,918; Dithrich, 3,661.

For associate judge, A. Dale Knouse received 60 Republican and 45 Democratic soldier votes, making his combined total 7,394.

Jury Commissioner Mervin I. Rice, Benderville, received 59 Republican soldier votes and Edgar A. Wolfe, Littlestown, Democrat, 47 votes. The final totals are, Rice, 4,324; Wolfe, 3,267.

Amendment Tally

The soldier vote on the amendments was:

No. 1, yes, 53, no 5; No. 2, yes, 16, no 37; No. 3, yes, 38, no 12; No. 4, yes, 51, no 7. This made the total vote on the amendments: No. 1, yes, 2,832, no 327; No. 2, yes, 993, no 1,479; No. 3, yes, 1,488, no 604; No. 4, yes, 1,624, no 741.

The count added eight soldier votes to the total for Milton Remmel, Democratic candidate for assessor in the first ward, and five votes to the total for Betty M. Lauver, Republican making their totals, Remmel, 353; Lauver, 369, a majority of 16 for the Republican candidate.

Seven more votes were added to the total for Richard S. Cratin, Democratic candidate for burgess at McSherrystown, making his total 298. The Republican candidate, Ambrose Eline, received 16 soldier votes, for a total of 289 and a majority of nine.

DEATH CLAIMS COUNTY WOMAN

Mrs. Emma J. Hossler, 77, widow of Danner Hossler, died at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond D. Hossler, Cashtown, Sunday morning at 5:20 o'clock from a complication of diseases. She had been in ill health and was bedfast three weeks.

Mrs. Hossler was born in Adams county, a daughter of the late John and Carolyn (Thomas) Bittinger and with the exception of four years spent in Philadelphia resided in Cashtown all of her life. Her husband died in 1900. The deceased was a member of the Cashtown Reformed church and was a charter member of the Good Times club of the church. She was well-known as a seamstress.

Surviving are two children, Miss Cleo Hossler, Hanover, and Raymond Hossler, who with she resided; two grandchildren, and one brother, William Bittinger, Cashtown.

Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Bender funeral home conducted by the Rev. John Ehrhart. Interment in Florn's cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home this evening after 7 o'clock.

Chamber Dinner Tuesday Evening

Those who have not made reservations for the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce membership dinner Tuesday night at the Blue Parrot tea room were requested today to do so at once by telephone to the chamber's office.

The dinner will be held at 6:30 o'clock. The report of the nominating committee will be submitted, and further nominations may be made from the floor.

Police Seek Auto Involved In Crash

Borough police are looking for an automobile which sideswiped the car of Roger Herr, Buford avenue, sometime between 3 and 8 o'clock Sunday morning, smashing a fender and carrying the license plate and taillight bracket of the Herr car with it.

Herr, recently returned from the service, is a student at Gettysburg college. His wife is a technician at Warner hospital. The right front hubcap of a blue Oldsmobile was found at the scene of the accident.

GEORGE MARTIN IS DISCHARGED

T. Sgt. George R. Martin, Jr., 26-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Martin, West High street, has arrived home following his honorable discharge from the army on November 6 at San Bernardino, Calif., after more than four years in the service.

Sergeant Martin served as a radio operator with the Army Airways Communications System at seven airfields in this country and in Alaska and Greenland. Serving much of the time as chief operator, Martin assumed the responsibility for correct and efficient functioning of an entire station and personnel.

He operated and repaired teletype machines and the Boehm high-speed recording machine. He was able to receive 35 word groups per minute.

Sergeant Martin served for 10 months at Unalak, Alaska, and for 17 months in Greenland. At various times he was stationed at Westover Field, Mass.; Presque Isle, Me.; Olmstead Field, Pa.; Godman Field, Ky.; Selfridge Field, Mich.; Rapid City, S. Dak.; and McClellan Field, Calif.

Before entering the service he was assistant manager of the Retail shoe store in Philadelphia. His plans for the future are undecided.

Gardners Soldier Gets Home Orders

"It won't be long now" These were the thoughts of Pfc. Harry E. Emlet, Gardners R. 2, who has received official orders to return to the United States after having served a total of 26 months in the Mediterranean Theatre of Operation.

Pfc. Emlet, who will be eligible for immediate discharge under the Army point system, has been on duty at Air Force General Depot No. 3, an Air Service Command installation located near the bomb-shattered port of Naples and within a short distance from the famous volcano, Mt. Vesuvius.

Throughout the war in Italy the depot served as the main supply and repair base for the 12th and 15th Army Air Forces. It is now destined to play an equally important role in the maintenance of postwar air-power overseas.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. George Glenn, Fairfield R. 2, announce the birth of a daughter at the Warner hospital Saturday.

TWO MEN DRAW PEN TERMS; JAIL PENALTIES FOR 3

Two men drew penitentiary sentences; three other defendants, one of them a woman, were sent to jail; three were fined and an 18-year-old confessed chicken thief was sent to the Pennsylvania Industrial school at Camp Hill at the November session of sentence court here Saturday afternoon.

Judge W. C. Sheely was on the bench with Associate Judges A. Dale Knouse and J. Price Oyster.

The heaviest penalty was meted out to Robert Woods Williams, Jr., Culver City, a painter who was arrested last week by Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster on serious charges brought after an investigation following the receipt of complaints against the painter and entertainer by three local high school boys.

Apple Thief Sent to Pen

Williams, who told the court his only previous arrest had been for jay-walking, drew three and a half to seven years in the Eastern penitentiary on each of three charges. The sentences will run concurrently. He must also pay a $5 fine and the costs of the case. Williams has appeared as an entertainer and female impersonator at several local lodges recently.

The other penitentiary sentence was given Robert Brennan, Gettysburg R. 1, who after his arrest by state police confessed the theft of more than 300 bushels of apples from the Heller Fruit farm, Mrs. Pape's fruit farm and other orchards in the upper end of the county.

Brennan drew a total of three to six years in the penitentiary on two charges of burglary and larceny. Another one to two years was added on a third similar charge but the court directed that the sentence run concurrently with the others. "Apple stealing is about on a par with chicken stealing," the court observed.

Richard Kuhn, 18, Biglerville R. D., who signed guilty pleas to two chicken stealing charges involving thefts from Donald Boyer and Walter Hays, was ordered to the Pennsylvania Industrial school at Camp Hill for an indefinite period.

Wagman Gets Six Months

State police who arrested Kuhn told the court that Kuhn had involved several minors in his confession and blamed them for the actual theft of the chickens, claiming that he only furnished the car for the robberies and did not share in the proceeds from the sale of the stolen birds.

James Wagman, Gettysburg, convicted last week by a jury of assault and battery, was sent to jail for six months, dated from September 1 when he was arrested. Wagman also must pay the costs of his case.

Eugene Shaffer, New Oxford R. D., who was arrested for hit and run driving, drunken driving and resisting arrest after a minor accident near Heidlersburg, drew a total of 6 months in jail. Judge Sheely sent the man to jail for 60 days on each of the 3 charges with the terms to be served consecutively. Shaffer must pay the costs in all of the cases.

Six Months for Woman

Mrs. Martha Schmaul, New Oxford, who had pleaded guilty to two check forgery charges, was sent to jail for six months. The wife of a serviceman now overseas, state police told the court that the county child welfare organization arranged for the care of Mrs. Schmaul's young daughter after the mother's arrest. Mrs. Schmaul had been in jail for several weeks without bail.

The forgery charges involved checks she passed at the Rose Ann shop and Virginia Myers' dress shop here after she had found the check-book, pocketbook and bankbook of a Mrs. J. Edward Miller of Newville at the Cross Keys inn. Mrs. Schmaul, who came into court well-dressed, told the court she could not explain how she got into trouble with the law.

Charles Reaver, Taneytown R. 2, charged with drunken driving, was allowed to renew bail for his appearance in court on Wednesday for sentence.

Must Pay $50 Fine

Motorist To Face Motor Code Charge

A charge of failing to have his automobile inspected will be filed by state police against Benjamin F. Kaler, Hummelstown, as the result of an accident at Twin Bridges, seven miles north of Gettysburg at 6 o'clock Sunday night, police said today.

Kaler was driving north and Carl E. Catir, 3864 South Capitol street, Washington, D. C., was proceeding south, when the two cars sideswiped. State police said both drivers were blinded by the headlights. No one was injured, but damage to the cars was estimated at $400.

ABE LINCOLN'S ADDRESS FITS SITUATION NOW

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Alexander Sokolov, writing in the Moscow trade union magazine "New Times" declares that the atomic bomb "has served as a signal for incorrigible reactionaries of the whole world to begin a riotous agitation against the Soviet Union."

This is the most outspoken comment to come from Russia regarding the feeling there about the bomb, and it serves to emphasize the delicacy of the present international situation. Relations among the Big Three—between Russia on the one hand and the western Allies on the other—continue to be uncomfortable. There are serious differences of opinion and there are suspicions which are doing great damage to cooperation.

Of course, the atomic bomb isn't the only matter of difference between the Anglo-American combination and Russia. There are the arguments about Japan, and about Bulgaria and Romania. And there are other difficulties.

Might Lose Victory

Differences are bad enough, but they might be susceptible of solution if they hadn't given rise to a crop of suspicions. Suspicions are like weevils—they bore in and destroy trust before one is aware they are there.

One begins to wonder seriously whether the Allies, having won the war through vast sacrifice, are about to throw the victory away. It's strange that allies who stood shoulder-to-shoulder during the terrible years of conflict on the battlefield, should now find it so hard to reconcile their differences.

Coming to work this morning I was talking about the position with my friend Pat Barnes—the entertainer you hear regularly over the air. Pat reminded me that this is the anniversary of Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg, and that this immortal address contains food for thought in the present situation. You well know the lines:

Was War Wasted?

"It is for us the living to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave their last full measure of devotion. x x x."

Was all the sacrifice of the war waste effort? It hadn't seemed so up to this point, but the Allied difficulties certainly are creating a serious situation. The consensus is that the only way to relieve this is for all the allies to get together and table their cards—say what they want for themselves and what they don't want for the other fellow.

Winding Up Work On Closed Institutions

Harrisburg, Nov. 19 (AP)—The closed bank and building and loan divisions of the state banking departments have been cut down "sharply" in the last two years, Governor Martin reported "because of success in winding up their work."

The divisions have been working since early days of the depression to liquidate the affairs of financial institutions which failed. The number of employees has been cut from 422 in January, 1943, to 175 at present, Martin said in the 13th of his reports on two years of Pennsylvania's progress.

"Practically no real estate remains," the governor stated, of that formerly held by the closed institutions.

Hollywood

By Bob Thomas

Hollywood, Nov. 19 (AP)—It's not unusual for a son to plan his father's career, but the Wynns—Keenan and Ed—are not ones to stand on convention. Son Keenan has induced the great clown to Hollywood and is devising a new turn in his father's distinguished career.

We sought Keenan out on the "No Leave, No Love" set and inquired why he advised his Pa to "go west, old man."

"When I look around Hollywood," he said between drags on his inseparable cigar, "it occurs to me that my Dad has forgotten more about show business than most of these guys will ever know."

Primarily, Keenan would like to make a picture with Ed. They have appeared together only once before, in a Broadway show. A movie with both of them might be an inspiration, if perhaps a headache for the script writer. Keenan pays little attention to the written lines, and as for Ed, "he can't stand to read a line of script—never used one in his entire career on Broadway."

At present, the younger comic thinks his father's best bet is as a producer-writer-actor. Ed is going to consult with Walt Disney in that regard this week. "That," said Keenan, "would be the best combination in the business, since everything Dad has done is Disneyesque."

"Where's the guy who wants to buy my boat," were the first words Victor Mature greeted us with. We assured him we had no interest in purchasing any boat and then he started telling about a dance routine he had just finished for "Three Little Girls in Blue."

"Imagine a big peasant like me dancing," he requested. We tried to imagine and then he was back talking about his boat. He said he was giving up pleasure cruising now that he is out of the Coast Guard. "I never want to see the ocean again," he said.

Vic pointed to his sport coat and remarked, "you know, I think there's a great future in these." He said he has been celebrating 42 V-J days and is twice as lazy as he was before entering the service.

He departed, continuing his search for "the guy who wants to buy my boat."

Union Thanksgiving services will be held in the Zion Evangelical and Reformed church at 7:30 o'clock on Wednesday evening with the Rev. George H. Berkheimer, preaching the sermon.

Services Today For Cpl. Paul A. Smith

Funeral services for Cpl. Paul A. Smith, 23, son of Paul H. Smith, York, who was killed in a motor vehicle accident in Staten Island, N. Y., Wednesday were held today, meeting at the Etzweiler funeral home, York, at 8:30 a. m. A high mass of requiem was celebrated at 9 o'clock in St. Joseph's Catholic church. Interment was made in the Annunciation parish cemetery, McSherrystown.

The young soldier formerly made his home with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schuhart, Abbotstown R. D. 1, and was a member of St. Mary's church, Abbotstown. He was in a CCC camp at Waynesboro for eight months before enlisting in the army in May, 1941. He served at Aberdeen, Md.; Camp Lee, Va.; Camp Plauche, New Orleans, and Staten Island.

Cpl. Smith was married to Miss Lucille Joines, of Sparta, N. C., on July 15, 1944, in the camp chapel at Aberdeen, Md. Surviving are his wife, his father and the following brothers and sisters: Cpl. Bernard F. Smith, serving on Okinawa; Harold J. Smith and Rita M. Smith, York, and John P. Smith and Nelson H. Smith, of the Paradise Protective, near Abbotstown. His mother was the late Genevieve Lawrence Smith, of Centennial.

Asks Sewage Plants For Up-Stream Towns

Harrisburg, Nov. 19 (AP)—Attorney General James H. Duff said he would ask the Sanitary Water Board to order municipalities in the Upper Schuylkill river to prepare plans for sewage treatment plants.

"We are not going to take any chance on the sewage being neutralized," said Duff. "Sewage is sewage regardless of whether it comes from upstream or downstream."

He referred to the recent order of the board which contemplated no action on stream clearance for communities above Reading because it was claimed that acid mine drainage in the river served to neutralize the contamination of the sewage.

Philadelphia is now almost solely dependent on the Schuylkill for its water supply, said Duff, and that water "should be free of all types of organic sewage."

The board ordered all communities from Reading down to Philadelphia to prepare plans for construction of sewage treatment works and submit them to the board before December 31.

BIGLER LOSES TO CAMP HILL IN FINAL 28-0

"Hen" Bream's Biglerville high school football team closed a successful season in an unsuccessful manner Saturday afternoon by dropping a 28-0 decision to Camp Hill high eleven on the latter's field. Camp Hill is coached by Bernie Thrush, former Biglerville coach.

The Canners were outplayed throughout the game and never offered a serious threat. Camp Hill rolled up 15 first downs while the upper countains manufactured six. The scoring began in the first period when Denison took a pass from Knerr and ran about seven yards for a touchdown, and in the second period Denison added a six-pointer on an end run of about 15 yards.

Knerr went through the line for a run of approximately 25 yards to score a touchdown in the third quarter, and in the last period Denison scored his third touchdown on an off-tackle play.

As a result of the victory Camp Hill took third place in the Lower Susquehanna conference race, Biglerville dropping to seventh place. Hummelstown clinched the conference title by defeating 13-0 Saturday.

SQUIRES RALLY TO WIN 24-12 IN LAST GAME

Delone Catholic high came from behind in the last half to score a 24-12 victory over the Harrisburg Catholic high gridders at McSherrystown Sunday afternoon and thereby gained sweet revenge for a 14-6 defeat handed them in the first game of the season at Harrisburg.

The victory enabled the Squires to break even for the season with five wins against as many defeats. Harrisburg Catholic was first to score. It recovered the ball at the Delone 23-yard line on a fumble by Delone and went on to tally. Rados gained four yards, and after a play had lost two yards. Cunjak went to the 3-yard line on a pass from Rados. After three tries at the line the Harrisburg gridders needed about six inches for a touchdown, and Cunjak then took a pass from Rados in the end zone for a six-pointer. A pass for a point after touchdown was tried but there was no score.

Even Score
In the second half Delone evened the score by getting a touchdown on a 53-yard drive. Murren tallying on a one-yard plunge. A kick for an extra point was wide.

Later in the second period Harrisburg regained the lead. On the kick-off made after the second touchdown of the game Marshall returned from the Harrisburg 25 to the 31. Rados gained 10 yards, and then Cunjak went through the right side

ARMY ELEVEN LEADS NATION FOR BIG BOWL

By MURRAY ROSE
New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—The national championship, several sectional races and the very confused of the line, cut to the right and scored a touchdown on a 59-yard run. At half-time Harrisburg led, 12 to 6.

However, Delone tied by getting a touchdown in the third period. After Filippelli had kicked out of bounds on the Delone 47 for the Harrisburg team, W. Noel took a pass from Overbaugh on the next play and ran 40 yards for a touchdown to even the count.

In the last period Delone Catholic high added two six-pointers. It scored the first after recovering the ball at the Harrisburg club's 35 on a fumble by the visitors. Six plays after the recovery the Delone team tallied, Bennett getting the touchdown on a reverse play.

Tally On Pass
Later, Overbaugh of Delone Catholic high intercepted a pass at the Harrisburg Catholic 37. Two first downs put the ball on the 9-yard line. Three plays yielded four yards and then Bennett took a pass from Overbaugh in the end zone for a touchdown.

bowl situation today remained to be cleared up as the collegiate football campaign neared its conclusion.

Army and Navy went into training for their championship clash in Philadelphia December 1, but the Big Ten, Big Seven and Big Six chases were slated to be decided this Thursday and Saturday. The bowl picture, never a clear one at best because of the weekly batch of upsets, became cloudier than ever today following the surprise defeats of St. Mary's, Holy Cross and Penn State Saturday.

Heading the list of contenders for the post-season contests were the four remaining major unbeaten and untied eleven—Army, Alabama, Oklahoma A. and M., and Virginia.

Army Tops Field
Army, which rolled to its 17th straight victory in two years by trouncing Pennsylvania 61-0, Saturday, topped the field for the Rose Bowl bid. Whether the Cadets would accept an invitation still was debatable but Major General Maxwell D. Taylor, superintendent at West Point, said after the Penn massacre that he was considering the matter although he emphasized that the Army has not received even a feeler for a New Year's Day game.

Alabama was rated the second choice for the Pasadena classic and the No. 1 nominee for any other bowl game in which it would like to play. The Red Elephants captured the Southeastern title by walloping Vanderbilt 71-0.

Oklahoma A. and M. became a much sought after club following its 46-6 whipping of a good Texas Tech squad.

Virginia was overlooked in the early hunt for bowl teams because of its weak record.

UCLA's 13-7 last quarter win over St. Mary's made easier the problem of selecting a western representative for the Rose Bowl. The western choice is restricted to a member of the Pacific Coast Conference and the UCLA's now stand as the top contender.

Indiana Tops Big Ten

In the Big Ten, Indiana, which beat Pittsburgh, 19-0 in its last outing, can clinch its first Western conference title by beating Purdue Saturday. But if the Hoosiers should lose, the winner of the Michigan-Ohio State shindig would become champions. Missouri, which nipped Oklahoma

Missing Hunter Is Found Dead

Greensburg, Pa., Nov. 19 (AP)—Missing from his home for more than 24 hours, Walter W. Bickel, 54, industrial worker of Greensburg R. 5, was found dead yesterday in a field about two miles from his home. Coroner H. Albert McMurrey said Bickel died of a gunshot wound in the chest.

Bickel had left his home with his gun Saturday morning to hunt pheasants. When he did not return home that night, a searching party of Hempfield township firemen was organized, and the body was discovered a short distance from a highway.

McMurrey said the hunter's gun found near the body, had been discharged.

14-6, can clinch the Big Six flag against Kansas Saturday. Colorado, with a 3-0 Big Seven record, meets runner up Denver (3-1) Thursday in a Rocky Mountains circuit deciding clash.

The Southwest conference, which sends one representative to the Cotton Bowl, had Texas in undisputed possession of first place but the race was far from decided. The Southern Conference title fight could be cleaned up Saturday if Duke, beaten only by Army and Navy, conquers North Carolina.

Everybody's asking... "When can I get new tires?"

HERE'S THE FIRST POSTWAR NEWS ABOUT U. S. ROYALS

When can I get new tires?

It won't be long now. War production is over. The entire facilities of our 5 giant plants are rolling out tires and tubes 100% for civilian use. This great production capacity is devoted to turning out more and more tires for you.

By January 1, 1946 we expect to be making as many civilian tires every day as we made before the war. Next spring we will be turning out more tires than we ever built before.

What about rationing?

We expect the government to continue rationing for at least 60 days. Present indications are it will be removed or greatly relaxed before the end of 1945.

How good will the new tires be?

Since Pearl Harbor, "U. S." scientists have made as much progress in applying synthetic materials to tire manufacture as had been made in the previous three decades with natural rubber.

When you buy your U. S. Royals, you'll buy more than just a good tire—you'll buy a great tire. Car owners are sending us reports from every section of the country that they are getting prewar performance and better from their U. S. Royals.

From tire dealers, tire service men and tire engineers, men who have made tires their life work, the evidence piles up—U. S. Royals are out in front in mileage, in safety, in all-around performance.

Where and How can I get new U. S. Royals?

Your U. S. Royal Dealer offers you a plan to assure the earliest possible delivery of tires and to keep your present tires rolling during the waiting period.

Here is the plan:

- Go to your U. S. Royal Dealer today for a thorough tire inspection.
- If you are in urgent need of new tires, he will show you how to get them at the earliest possible moment.
- If your need is not immediate, he will use his expert knowledge of tire care to keep your car on active duty until new U. S. Royals are available.
- The quickest way to get new U. S. Royals is to register your tire needs with your U. S. Dealer now.

HOLD OUT FOR U. S. ROYALS

When you get your new set of U. S. Royals, you can expect great service from them. Meanwhile, get full use of your car by seeing your community U. S. Royal Dealer.

SELF-PITY

If yourself you think about
Every minute of the day,
Gloom and bitterness and doubt
Will forever with you stay.

If you fancy and suppose
Trouble comes to you alone,
You will find your share of woes
To a fearful size has grown.

If with sadness on your face
Every hurt you want to air,
You can make out quite a case
Proving life to you unfair.

But if you'll yourself forget,
And keep busy through the day,
All the troubles you have met
Will pack up and slip away.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

A GREAT ART

It seems to me that one of the greatest of all arts is that of understanding. Most of the troubles of the world are traceable to misunderstanding. After all, we can do no better than to keep edging up close to the Golden Rule. The other fellow is just as important as we are! Let's keep that fact ever before us.

What causes a quarrel? Misunderstanding. What is it that separates people, both married and unmarried? Misunderstanding. What causes strife among employers and employees? Misunderstanding. What is it that plants the seeds of war among nations? Misunderstanding. And so it is all through life. Should it not be, therefore, the task of us all to try to understand under every circumstance or critical situation that may arise?

Each one of us is both right and wrong. We must be guided in our acts and decisions by remembering that others are in the same boat as we are, and are both right and wrong, so to get along happily we must meet on common ground—try to understand the viewpoint of the other fellow. All life is a give and take affair.

Only fools and the unintelligent refuse to compromise for the good of the many. We live in a very imperfect world, made up of many imperfect human beings, each one of us with his own imperfections.

If the Russians were Americans they would believe as Americans do, and if Americans were Russians they would believe as the Russians do! That's the way it is. Likewise among all nationalities. Here is where the great art of understanding comes in. We must learn to put ourselves in the place of the other fellow and try to understand his circumstances of birth and life, and be just and tolerant.

We must learn to put ourselves in other people's shoes, and take a walk into the field of understanding.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Floating Golds and Crimsons"

Hammer-Wielder Shoots Himself

Pittsburgh, Nov. 19 (AP)—Phil Smith, 42-year-old telephone worker, shot and killed himself yesterday after striking his 11-year-old daughter on the head with a hammer. Homicide Detective Martin Corcoran reported.

The daughter, Margery, was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where attendants said she had received a scalp laceration and possible fracture of the skull.

Police said the girl told them this story:

She was reading the Sunday comic pages when her father put his hand over her eyes and struck her. Her brother, Robert, 15, heard her screams and rushed downstairs. He wrested the hammer from the father's grasp, and then they ran outside for help.

Out Of The Past From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Bank Directors: The following gentlemen were on Monday elected Directors of this institution for the ensuing year:

Robert Smith, George W. McClellan, Wm. D. Himes, Wm. McSherry, Jacob Young, Henry Wirt, Henry Schriver, Henry Myers, Robert W. McSherry, Henry Spalding, William Douglass, George Spoe.

Barn Burnt: On Thursday, the barn of Mr. Henry Hemler, of Mountpleasant township, was consumed by fire, with all its contents. The fire originated from shooting a steer in the barn, and the flames spread so rapidly that nothing could be saved, not even the bullock just shot!

Married: On the 13th inst., by the Rev. Mr. Sechler, Mr. Henry Mayer, of York county, to Miss Catharina Heagy, of this county.

On the 16th inst., by the same, Mr. Edward Riffle to Miss Lydia Steffy—both of this county.

Five young men from the Gettysburg Seminary, Messrs. Harrison, Alleman, Curtis, Kopp and Knight, were licensed to preach by the West Pennsylvania Lutheran Synod, which met at Carlisle in October.

Dedication: We have neglected to mention that the Lutheran and German Reformed church at Bendersville, in this county, was solemnly consecrated to the service of God on Sabbath, the 26th ult. The services on the occasion were deeply interesting. The clergymen who officiated were the Rev. J. Ulrich, pastor of the Lutheran church, Rev. C. F. Hoffmeier, pastor of the German Reformed church, Professor Hay, of Gettysburg, and Rev. G. W. Glessner, of Lancaster.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Ice: On Tuesday night last, ice, for the first time this season, formed on the ponds and small streams in the neighborhood. We have had an unusually mild fall, with no symptoms of winter.

Married: Benner-Shriver—By the Rev. E. Breidenbaugh, on the 15th inst., Maj. Henry S. Benner to Mrs. Sophia A. Shriver, of this place.

Bupp-Wantz: On the 10th inst., by the Rev. L. L. Williams, Mr. Mathias W. Bupp to Miss Mary J. Wantz, both of this county.

Sheretz-Spangler: On the 10th inst., by the Rev. P. Bergstresser, Mr. John P. Sheretz to Miss Maggie E. Spangler, both of Adams county.

Bennet-Hull: On the 17th inst., by the Rev. E. Breidenbaugh, Mr. McCurdy J. Bennet to Miss Jimima Hull, both of Fairfield.

Chronister-Batterman: On the 3d inst., by the Rev. Dr. Hauer, Mr. George Chronister to Miss Honora E. Batterman.

Gulden-Rider: On the 15th inst., by the Rev. B. A. Shorb, Mr. Francis Gulden to Miss Virginia Rider, both of this county.

Resigned: Rev. H. W. McKnight has resigned the pastoral charge of the Lutheran church at Newville, Pa., on account of ill health.

Horse Stolen: On the night of the 18th inst., a bright bay horse was stolen from the stable of A. Erter, of this place. The horse is eight years old, is a cribber, and has the bone spavin on the right hind leg.

New Firm: Robert & Bushman, Dry Goods, Carpets, Glassware, &c.—The firm of Robert and Elliott having been dissolved, it is succeeded by Robert & Bushman, who will continue the Mercantile business at the old stand on Baltimore street, opposite the Court-house, Gettysburg. The junior partner has for years been employed as salesman in the store of J. L. Schick, and therefore brings to his new position an experience in the business possessed by few.

Adam Robert, John H. Bushman.

New York is congratulating herself that at last the problem of rapid city transit has been solved for them by the construction of a railroad under Broadway, a portion of which has been completed and will be formally opened Wednesday. The bed of the railway is 21 feet below the surface of Broadway, and the diameter of the tunnel 9 feet. The passenger car is about the same size as ordinary street cars. It is very tastefully fitted up, brilliantly lighted, and has seats for twenty-two persons. It is propelled by the atmospheric system, that is to say, by means of a strong blast of air which is supplied to the tunnel by a gigantic blowing-machine.

New Law Firm: Wm. McClean, Esq., of the late firm of M. & W. McClean, has associated himself in the practice of law with H. B. Woods, Esq., and will do business under the firm of McClean & Woods.

CHIANG TROOPS DASH 20 MILES INTO MANCHURIA

By SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, Nov. 19 (AP)—Chinese nationalist troops have plunged 12 miles into Manchuria beyond the fallen communist citadel of Shan-haikwan and have fanned out 30 miles to the west, a communist spokesman declared today.

But simultaneously the spokesman asserted that "popular" troops were going to take over Manchuria's capital of Changchun, 440 miles northwest of Shan-haikwan, the minute Russian occupation forces withdraw December 1.

These "popular" forces, he said, were not attached to the famed communist Eighth Route army, but were pledged to maintain a "Democratic rule" in Changchun.

He admitted that while the communist troops had been thrown back at Manchuria's border they would keep right on resisting the advance of the nationalist armies through the vast territory.

To Continue Resistance
The spokesman said this resistance would persist as long as the Chungking government "fails to consult the people" on the form of government to be adopted. He said the Japanese and puppet troops already were disarmed in Manchuria and there was no need for the government to send in armies.

In the fighting north of Shan-haikwan, the spokesman said the nationalists had burst into Liaoning, most southerly of the Manchurian provinces.

Other elements, he said, struck westward and overran the Hopei province town of Pining, 30 miles from Shan-haikwan.

Chinese press reports said that 20,000 communist troops had stormed and captured the nationalist stronghold of Paotow, in inner Mongolia.

The Chinese central news agency said Paotow—one of two focal points in the struggle for control of the inner Mongolian province of Suiyuan—fell after communist troops forced the west gate late last month.

Kweisui Holds Out
The city, once nationalist army headquarters in Suiyuan, is the western terminal of the Peiping-Suiyuan railway, one of the most important lateral routes in North China.

Presumably long-besieged Kweisui, province capital 90 miles east of Paotow, still held out.

The nationalist forces in both cities were not believed strong. The communists had charged that American marines were spear-heading a nationalist attempt to get relief forces in from Peiping. The communist charge has been denied by American authorities here.

Nationalist forces, who Friday forged into the rich northern province after capturing Shan-haikwan, widened their hold around that great wall anchor, but communists were reported bolstering their positions in the interior.

The nationalist success eliminated the necessity of amphibious landings in Manchuria, an operation made hazardous by failure to agree with Russia on ports of entry and by American refusal to use its ships to transport Chinese troops there.

Meanwhile, American marines in the north China port of Tsingtao began loading 3,000 disarmed Japanese naval air force personnel on Japanese merchant ships for return home.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 19 (AP)—Federal Union, Inc., proponents of a world union, unanimously reelected Clarence K. Streit as its president at yesterday's closing sessions of the organization's fifth annual convention. "A courageous journal of opinion" as the "best champion of our principles of liberty and union," Streit, author of "Union Now," will be the editor.

Altoona OPA Merger Cuts Personnel 100

Pittsburgh, Nov. 19 (AP)—Merger of the Altoona district of the Office of Price Administration into the Pittsburgh area will be completed by January 15, W. K. Harrison, district OPA director, said today.

The consolidation will boost the Pittsburgh office area to 26 western counties of the state, and will result in a decrease of 100 in paid personnel.

Ten price control boards will be maintained in the Altoona area, which includes Blair, Bedford, Clearfield, Fulton, Huntingdon, Indiana, Jefferson and Somerset counties.

Three district boards will be left in the state by the merger—Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Scranton.

Former Major Loop Player Kills Self

Philadelphia, Nov. 19 (AP)—Morris C. Rath, 58, former second baseman for the Philadelphia Athletics, shot and killed himself yesterday, reported Deputy Coroner George C. Topfizer.

Topfizer said Rath, who also played with the Cleveland Indians, Cincinnati Reds, Chicago White Sox, Baltimore Orioles and San Francisco Seals, before retiring in Philadelphia.

Three district boards will be left in the state by the merger—Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Scranton.

Padlock Office Of Ex-Company Doctor

Du Bois, Pa., Nov. 19 (AP)—Ross Pentz, attorney for 350 Shawmut Mining company workers who went on strike after the resignation last summer of their company physician, said he would file charges in connection with the alleged disappearance of some of the doctor's possessions from her office.

Slim, blonde Dr. Elizabeth Hayes resigned last July 6 over what she termed "intolerable" conditions in several company-owned towns, but continued to treat patients in private practice.

She returned from an emergency call last Saturday, she said, to find "a big padlock on my office and a sign informing me that if I tried to enter I'd be liable to a $10 fine for trespass."

Pentz said some of the doctor's clothing and medical equipment had disappeared. Dr. Hayes said she received a letter November 13 notifying her to vacate the office in five days, but that she received no eviction notice.

Night Court Held In Murder Trial

Erie, Pa., Nov. 19 (AP)—The Erie county court trial of Frank L. Bromley, Jr., 23, of Corry, Pa., on a charge of murder, entered its second week today with the possibility that both day and night court sessions may be called.

Bromley is charged with the fatal shooting of Chief Petty Officer Lloyd Wilkinson along lonely King road, near North East, on Good Friday, 1942.

A Saturday night court session—the first in memory of Erie county lawyers—was held, during which District Attorney Burton R. Laub called several commonwealth witnesses.

The jurors had petitioned for a Sunday trial session, but presiding Judge J. Orin Waite told them it was against the law and ordered the night session instead. He also indicated he may call both day and night sessions this week.

FSA Committeemen Will Go To School

Pittsburgh, Nov. 19 (AP)—Farm Security Administration committeemen from 15 western Pennsylvania counties will join in a two-day meeting here Nov. 26 and 27 with the Pennsylvania advisory committee of FSA, state Director Carson F. Mertz said today.

The group will participate in a training session for farm security assistance to returning servicemen, and will take part in a 4-H club roundup at union stockyards.

IRAN REVOLT ISOLATED IN NEW ATTACKS

Tehran, Iran, Nov. 19 (AP)—Armed members of the Separatist Democratic party—revolting against Iranian government authority in territory garrisoned by Soviet troops—were reported today to be advancing down the 230-mile-long railway from Mi-aneh to Tehran.

Three towns with Iranian garrisons were reported to have been isolated in two days of fighting in the mountainous northern province of Azerbaijan. The insurgents also were said to be threatening Zenjan and Kazvin, respectively 165 and 80 miles northwest of Tehran.

A high ranking Iranian officer described the situation as "desperate."

An Iranian government spokesman said the insurgents' drive toward the nation's capital was launched after the Separatists seized control of Mi-aneh. One Iranian gendarme captain, four soldiers and two railway station employees were killed, he added.

Separatist forces in Mi-aneh severed communications with both Tehran and Tabriz, Azerbaijan province capital 90 miles to the northwest, the spokesman declared. He explained that the insurgents were dressed in civilian clothes.

The Iranian Council of Ministers instructed War Minister Gen. Riazi and Chief-of-Staff Gen. Ibrahim Arfa to ask the Russian military attaché for an explanation of the situation. The Soviet charge d'affaires is ill. The Soviet attaché promised to refer the request to Gen. Sovetnikov, commander-in-chief of Russian forces in Iran.

The Iranian spokesman said rifles and machineguns were distributed to the Separatists from trucks bearing Russian Army insignia. There was no indication that Russian troops were manning the trucks.

Iranians in the capital said they understood that the weapons wielded by the insurgents were considered part of 100,000 Iranian rifles and machineguns handed over to the Russians when Red Army troops entered Iran in 1941.

Iranians have contended that Russian forces have prohibited Iran from sending gendarme reinforcements into the area where the outbreak occurred.

NAB THREE WHO FLED FROM PEN

Bellefonte, Pa., Nov. 19 (AP)—Three prisoners who escaped without a trace from Rockview penitentiary Nov. 1 have been retaken in Hannibal, Mo., Dr. J. W. Claudy, superintendent of the prison, said today.

Claud identified the prisoners as Edward J. Blanchard, 44, Montour county, serving five to 10 years on a statutory rape charge; John E. Hoffman, 32, Montour county, serving five to 10 years for robbery, and William R. Smith, 27, Clinton county, serving three to 10 years for robbery.

Dr. Claudy said state police would probably go to Hannibal to bring back the prisoners.

bery. Claudy said Hannibal police informed the penitentiary of the capture but gave no details.

The men escaped over a stockade of the prison near the laundry building after they had finished loading a truck of pork for another institution at 12:30 a. m. Nov. 1.

"They vanished into the air," Dr. Claudy added. "The dogs picked up their trail on the other side of the stockade, followed them through the pines outside the prison and down to the main highway. We haven't the remotest idea how they got away from there."

Dr. Claudy said state police would probably go to Hannibal to bring back the prisoners.

Seek Identity Of Amnesia Victim

Chicago, Nov. 19 (AP)—Sgt. Larry Gorey said today central police are trying to identify a girl, about 19, who he said apparently is an amnesia victim. Cards in her purse were addressed to Mrs. J. W. Thompson of (314 14th St.) New Brighton, Pa., and were signed "Betty."

Gorey said the girl was brought to the police station by Navy Lt. John Davilee of Quincy, Mass., after the girl stopped him on downtown streets to inquire the way to a police station.

She could not recall her name, Gorey said.

Remember how proud you were when our men sent the Jap fleet scurrying away and fought their way back into the Philippines? Remember how proud you were to learn we had developed the world's fastest plane? Remember how proud you were to learn we had been the ones to discover the secret of the world's most potent weapon, the atomic bomb?

Besides genius, courage and suffering, these things cost money. But you are not asked to pay, only lend, so your government may pay its bills. And each of your Victory Bonds is also a saving toward the future. Remember, your government will pay for peace with your money and then return it with interest. Did any investment ever offer so great a return as this?

TWO MEN DRAW

ing arrest, told the court he had been arrested four times previously on disorderly conduct charges. Judge Sheely suspended sentence and placed Nun on probation on condition that he stay out of Pennsylvania.

Paul Lupp, North Stratton street, was ordered to pay the county $50 and the costs of his case after suspension of a jail sentence on a charge of driving a car after the state had suspended his driver's license. State police brought the charge. A similar sentence was given Calvin Maitland, Littlestown, on a hit and run driving charge brought after a minor accident near Fairfield.

James W. Miller, Gardner's R. 1, a discharged veteran who came into court in uniform on a hit and run driving charge, drew a suspended sentence but was placed on probation and ordered to pay the costs of the case. He also must pay a $3.50 veterinary bill for Willis J. Guise, Gardner's R. 1, owner of the cow which Miller struck with his car.

Warren Is Fined
Clarence Warren, Fairfield R. 1, who twice before had changed his plea to charges of hit and run driving and turning out his lights to avoid identification after an accident, must pay a total of $200 and the costs of the cases. Jail sentence was suspended. Robert C. Stenger, York, brought the charges after an accident on Steinwehr avenue. Warren was placed on probation for three months during which time he is to pay the fines and costs.

This morning Sheriff Millhimes and his deputy, Blaine E. Bixler, took Williams and Brennan to the Eastern penitentiary to begin their terms.

Imposition of sentences, which was scheduled for 10 a. m. Saturday, could not begin until the completion of the last jury trial of the term at 12 o'clock. Sentences were complete before 1 o'clock.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
New York, Nov. 19 (AP)—Anybody want the job of picking the football "bowl" teams today? . . . What with St. Mary's and Holy Cross, which looked like sure things for New Year's bids and Penn State, a possibility, getting knocked off, the list now looks like Army (if it will go) Alabama, Oklahoma Aggies and then what? . . . Army's Glenn Davis finally spent a day on the bench, but it took a judge to get him there. Glenn and his teammate, Jim Rawers, were guests of Chief Magistrate Edgar Bromberger in the New York Felony Court yesterday. . . . The Indiana football team had to travel in three groups to reach that mud bath in Pittsburgh Saturday. And when the squad finally was assembled for practice the Hoosiers found the keys to the equipment trunks in the possession of a student manager who had been left behind in Bloomington.

MONDAY MATINEE
Grid-goofy Pittsburghers will tell you that not only Coach Clark Shaughnessy but Pitt's athletic director, Jimmy Hagan, will hit the skids as soon as this season ends. And the coach the Pitt alumni seem to want is none other than Jock Sutherland. . . . And how about a cheer for the grid Giants scouts? They apparently spotted the same weakness on pass defense that enabled the Packers to beat that big Detroit team, and New York didn't have a Don Hutson to take advantage of it.

JOHNNY'S ON THE SPOT

While Halfback Johnny Duda was rolling up the scores for the U. of Virginia football team, his mother never got to see him play until his final game against West Virginia in the deep mud at Charleston, West Va. . . . Mom wasn't favorably impressed by the game, but she did like the between-halves show staged by high school trumpet-tooters. . . . "Johnny," she said afterwards, "when you have a son, don't let him play that rough football—you let him play in the band."

OPA Rules Slight Decrease On Some New Automobiles And Increase On Others

DEALERS WILL ABSORB BOOSTS IN MARGIN CUTS

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Washington, Nov. 19 (AP)—New General Motors cars will cost the public a little less than pre-war models, while prices for Fords, Studebakers and Chrysler-made autos will be somewhat higher.

That's the way OPA Administrator Chester Bowles sums it up in the first of his long-awaited announcements on price ceilings for the cars now trickling into showrooms.

The big surprise of Bowles' announcement is that GM-built Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles, Buicks and Cadillacs will sell at retail for an average of 2.5 per cent less than in January, 1942.

Some increases had been expected, but there had been no hint of price cuts.

The retail boosts are one per cent for Chryslers and that company's other makes—Plymouth, Dodge and De Soto; two per cent for Fords; and nine per cent for Studebaker.

In the case of Ford, for example, the retail ceiling for a new Deluxe eight cylinder Tudor sedan is $882 at the factory. The 1942 ceiling was $850.

Only Comparison
OPA said that because of apparent model changes it had no basis at this time for comparison of any except Ford prices.

The increases announced are exclusive of any which may be allowed for appreciable design or specification changes.

In the way of actual price ceilings there was little news in Bowles' announcement.

He made public ceilings for only a few Ford and Studebaker models, and said prices for other models and other cars would be along as soon as details could be worked out. These include the GM makes, which are to be cut.

Bowles gave no indication at all of ceilings for Hudson, Nash, Packard, Crosley, Willys or the new Fraser-Kaiser cars. Of these he said either that calculations had not been completed or that production is "still some distance" in the future.

Auto dealers' pleas for outright exemption from the requirement that they absorb some of manufacturers' higher production costs were turned down by the OPA chief.

Less Than Feared
But their traditional pre-war discount of 24 per cent on manufacturers' prices is not being trimmed as much as they had feared. The cut will be 2.5 percentage points, giving them a revised initial profit margin of 21.5 per cent.

Last week, in replying to dealers' angry protests to a congressional committee, Bowles had indicated the discount might be reduced by as much as five percentage points. Earlier he had said car sales firms could stand, without financial loss, a cut of 11 or 12 points.

The purpose of the profit margin cut—called cost absorption—is to keep retail prices for all new cars from averaging more than in 1942.

Bowles said the cut of 2.5 points would accomplish this. He said that an average 3½ per cent price increase being granted to manufacturers would be fully absorbed by dealers.

This means he expects retail price increases will be offset by the cuts, and that the aggregate retail price of all new cars will not be greater than in 1942.

Dealers Not Surprised
There was immediate comment from only one of the manufacturers covered by the first OPA announcement, all of whom except General Motors received price increases.

In the case of Ford, a company spokesman said at Detroit "OPA refused to give us the figures." OPA said Ford and Studebaker prices had been turned over to company officials shortly before they were announced to the public.

Dealers reacted quickly to the announcement that their discount is being trimmed.

In Cincinnati, where the executive committee of the National Automobile dealers is in session, President W. L. Mallon said the organization was "disappointed but not surprised."

NIMITZ IS OPPOSED TO ONE COMMAND

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP)—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz asserted Saturday the "theoretical advantages" of merging the armed forces "are unattainable, whereas the disadvantages are so serious that it is not acceptable."

Events which led to the Pearl Harbor disaster, the Pacific fleet commander told the Senate Military committee, "have shown clearly enough that not only between the War and Navy departments but between both of them and the State department there should have been more coordination of thinking and action."

But to bring this about in the future, Nimitz said, he favors not a single department of defense but a National Security council, composed of the secretaries of State, War and Navy, as proposed by Secretary of the Navy Forrestal.

Acknowledging that this stand against merger reverses his opinion of a year ago, he said:

"For this change of opinion I make no apology, since it represents my conviction based on additional experience and further study of the proposal and its current implications."

Cites War Results

As a witness Nimitz followed by a day General Eisenhower, the European theater commander, who urged strongly that air, sea and land services be placed under a single department headed by a civilian.

After reviewing the successful prosecution of the war in the Pacific, Nimitz said:

"It is clear from this brief sketch of the last year that many operations by many forces, - - land, sea and air - - were closely integrated in our strategy."

"It is also clear that the defeat of Japanese sea power, and the preponderance of our own sea power, played a tremendously important part in the result."

"I feel that the successes which led to this result are convincing evidence of the merit of the system under which they were accomplished."

"Our successes were more rapid than I had believed possible a year ago. I believe we should have very good reasons—better reasons than any offered so far—before we change a system that has proved itself so effective."

DOG'S LIFE

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 19 (AP)—Although his owner treats him with consideration, Mrs. A. A. Hupert's dog "Toy" is really in the doghouse.

He has to watch his step whenever he moves about the house lest he knock over any of the 1,210 factory-made dogs Mrs. Hupert has collected as a hobby.

CAR CEILINGS PROVIDE FEW COMPARISONS

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP)—Only a few comparisons of 1942 auto price ceilings and those for new cars can be made on the basis of OPA's first announcement.

Ford and Studebaker thus far are the only companies to receive specific ceilings. And the ceilings cover only a few models built by these companies.

For other cars, OPA simply gave overall percentages of increase or decrease without relating the percentages to individual models.

In the case of Ford, here are the comparisons which can be made:

Deluxe eight cylinder—Tudor sedan, $882 is the retail ceiling price at the factory, as compared with $850 in 1942; Fordor sedan, $931 as compared with $885; 3-passenger coupe $834, as compared with $815.

Super Models

Super deluxe eight cylinder—Tudor sedan, $940, as compared with $895; Fordor sedan, $989, as compared with $930; sedan coupe, $977, as compared with $920; 3-passenger coupe, $891, as compared with $860.

OPA priced four Studebaker models, but it said there is "no basis" for comparing these with models listed in the 1942 price chart. Explaining, the agency said the new models are not similar to those of four years ago.

Here are retail prices assigned for Studebakers:

Four-door cruising sedan, $967; two-door club sedan, $918; five passenger double-dater coupe, $916; three-passenger business coupe, $875.

Cost Buyer More

These are all retail factory prices, which means that, as always, they will cost more in showrooms when federal tax, transportation costs and preparation and handling charges have been added.

Here's one example of how, in 1942, factory prices differed from prices the public paid:

The factory retail price for an

Prisoner Records Were Ordered Burned

Tokyo, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Japanese military ordered prisoners of war records burned the day Emperor Hirohito commanded the nation to lay down its arms, the recovered personnel section of General MacArthur's headquarters disclosed on Saturday.

Under Allied prompting, the Japanese have been able to offer only the most vague and incomplete explanations of the action.

Japan's liaison office said the eight-cylinder Ford deluxe tudor sedan was $850. If it sold in Washington, D. C., the customer paid $1,091.41.

struction occurred when the Nipponese were "psychologically in a state of utter confusion, if not panic stricken."

The actual orders to burn highly important documents were issued orally last August 15 from the ministry of war office at a liaison conference at Ichigoya. The missing records may concern as many as 30,000 persons, many still not traced, said Lt. N. F. Churchill, Toledo, Ohio, of the recovered personnel office.

Churchill and 25 men are trying to trace more than 1,500 missing American B-29 airmen.

Leprosy is caused by a bacillus which is similar to the one which causes tuberculosis.

Do We Get Tires or Not?

The public has become confused as to the tire picture. They read stories of great production, of an early end of rationing. They wonder why rationing boards are not more liberal in issuing new tire certificates—and then blame the dealer because he does not have tires. Naturally all of us would like to sell more tires—if we could get them. They are not being held back. There are many reasons why the demand exceeds the supply—and may continue to do so for the next two years. Don't be too hopeful, but be practical about your tires and you will have little to worry about as to continued safe motoring.

This Is The Tire Picture

Passenger tire quotas for November are 2,500,000. This is the same as it has been for the past several months. With a slight increase next month, it will mean that the entire yearly distribution will average one new tire per passenger car. Now—Let us see why YOU do not get tires. First, quotas are too small to meet the demand. Second, inventories in the hands of dealers are the smallest in history. The entire production of the rubber industry this month will do nothing more than fill backlog orders in the hands of manufacturers (more than 2 million) and the unfilled certificates in the hands of the public (more than 800,000). These have not been turned into tires because dealer stocks are virtually empty. Deliveries from manufacturers are two and three months behind. This is the complete story—verified by officials in the government agencies having to do with tire production and distribution.

HERE IS WHAT YOU CAN DO

By all means continue the measures of tire conservation that were urged by every government agency. They were—and still are—common sense principles. They include such fundamentals as careful driving—avoid sudden starts or stops. Have your tires inspected regularly. Keep tires properly inflated. If the wheels are out of alignment, have them adjusted. If there is a break, have it repaired at once. When the tread is worn smooth, have tires recapped immediately. Visit your tire serviceman who is interested in your continued driving and knows tire care. The dealers listed below have had years of experience and played a major part in maintaining transportation in this area. Their services are just as important today.

HERE IS WHAT WE WILL DO

We know every phase of tire construction, factors that lower tire mileage and how to guard against them. We know how to add new, safe miles to your tires. The quality of our repair and recapping work meets government regulations and the standards adopted by the National Bureau of Standards. It is our desire to assure you every possible mile of travel for your dollar—the best value possible. It is our opinion that there will not be sufficient tires to meet full demand for the next two years. Even if rationing should end, your needs will not be met. Tire repairs and recapping will continue to play a dominant part in transportation and we offer you the combined skill—the services and facilities of these tire merchants—your local business men.

DUAL PURPOSE IS SERVED BY FRUIT TREES

Because of the war, American people have become conscious of their diet, says J. B. Johnston, horticulture editor of the New York Herald Tribune. The large percentage of men rejected for service, although reared in areas where food was plentiful, put scientists and food specialists to work. It was found that some persons may starve amidst plenty. It has been stated that we are a nation of pampered appetites, with many of us eating what we like regardless of the needs of the human body. Vegetables and fruits finally came into their own, and so great did the demand become for fruits that they soared to the highest level on our ration-point system. This was all to the good, for it started the planting of fruit trees in home gardens, which garden makers confidently expect will be carried far beyond the war years.

Right now seed fruits, such as apples, pears and quinces, may be planted. Stone fruits are best left until spring. These include peaches, plums and cherries. If your garden is not large enough to allow planting standard-sized trees, then you should investigate the possibilities of dwarf or espalier types.

Require Fertile Soil
Apples, pears and quinces all need a fertile, well drained soil. Soil that will grow fine vegetables or flowers will do the trick. Do not plant trees on soil where water will stand half the winter or where the soil is so light and shallow that half of it will blow away before spring.

Apple trees that will grow to full size should be spaced twenty-five feet apart, while pears and quinces may stand as little as fifteen or twenty feet apart, provided the trees are to be kept in bounds by judicious pruning. The soil between these trees may be utilized to grow vegetables and berries for several years if some effort is made to provide extra plant food and if the young trees receive proper care.

If good production is desired, do not plant fruit trees on land which you have decided is fit for nothing else, because failure surely will result. Trees need just as good soil as any other crop and just as intelligent care.

Trim Broken Roots
As trees come from the nursery at this time of the year, they may have some broken roots. These should be trimmed evenly and cleanly. It is unlikely that they will need immediate pruning, as modern nurseries take care of this before shipping.

When digging the hole in which to place the tree, be sure to make it large enough to allow the top soil to be placed in the bottom of the hole, as the feed roots of the young trees then will benefit immediately from the best soil. Also allow enough space to spread the roots in a natural position. The tree should be placed two or three inches deeper than it grew in the nursery. Once the soil is placed around the roots and firmed well, water should be added in sufficient quantity to bring about a solid distribution of the soil around the roots and to eliminate air pockets.

Brace Young Trees
It would be smart to brace young trees planted in the fall against the first winter's winds by attaching three guy wires or ropes to stakes about three feet from the base of the tree. Where they are attached to the trunk, rubber or cloth guards should be used to avoid chafing.

It is well to remember in choosing trees that many varieties of apples

Plant Bulbs Now, Inspect Vegetables

Inspect all stored vegetables for possible decay.
Set out bird-feeding stations. A pan of water also should be furnished.

Planting of crabapple, apple, pear and quince trees can be undertaken now.

Plant rhubarb roots before the ground freezes.
November and December are the months to plant the lily bulbs now available. Continue planting tulips, daffodils and other hardy spring flowering bulbs.

Newly planted trees should be wrapped with burlap from the ground up to the first branches. Wrap wire netting around young fruit trees to protect them against mice and rabbits.

Rose planting may continue as long as the soil is workable. When your rose plants arrive, keep them moist and away from sun and air. Prune broken ends from the roots. Little or no pruning of the tops is needed until spring.

Says Atom Control Could Start Soon

Charleston, S. C., Nov. 19 (AP)—The United States government believes the proposed United Nations Commission for the control of atomic energy — particularly the atomic bomb—can be functioning in two months.

Secretary of State Byrnes held out that possibility in a speech here Friday night.

In the first administration pronouncement on atomic energy since the President and the Prime Ministers of Britain and Canada issued their declaration Thursday, Byrnes said the period of three-nation secrecy on industrial know-how "need not be unnecessarily prolonged."

Referring to the proposed establishment of the commission, the secretary said, "this can be done within sixty days."

Airplane Crashes Into Electric Pole

Gifford, Pa., Nov. 19 (AP)—A small airplane struck a transformer on a utility pole and crashed on a highway in front of the pilot's home yesterday, demolishing the plane and injuring one of the two occupants.

The pilot, Frank Sprague, 29, who was discharged from the marines Friday, was taken to Bradford hospital where attendants said he had suffered concussion, scalp lacerations and two fractured ribs.

Frank's brother, Kay Sprague, 15, escaped injury, police said.

The pair took off in the privately-owned plane from the Harri Emery airport, near Bradford, and flew over this McKean county community before the crash occurred.

are sterile unless planted with other types which pollinize them. Your nurseryman or seedman will advise you about this: in fact, most catalogues listing such items give complete information. In any event, plant fruit trees. The fruit will be relished by your family and the trees will improve your garden, supplying flowers in early spring and brilliant fruit in summer or fall.

BARE BRANCHES ALLOW PLANTS NEEDED LIGHT

The pesky oak leaves have been giving me lots of trouble, but I am glad to see one large tree almost bare as more sunlight can now hit the greenhouse, which is highly important during the short-day months. Compared with the summer, the total light intensity is only about 50 per cent and the power of the sun is so reduced that there is little danger of burned plants so long as humidity and ample root moisture are maintained.

Plants can assimilate and convert the soil nutrients into food only with the aid of light. If the soil of pot plants is rich in nutrients and lack of lights slows down food manufacture, growth becomes soft and it can happen that the roots become injured so that they cannot take up moisture, with the result that the plants go limp, especially if sunshine follows several dark days. Once the feeding roots are gone, it does more harm than good to apply water heavily. The plants so smitten are checked for good, but by shading and keeping nearly dry until new roots are formed, they will partially recover.

Helped by Weather
Recent bright, warm days have done much to benefit plants, both indoors and outside. The tropical water lilies repeatedly opened their last flowers until the frost on Nov. 6 knocked them out for good, but it did no harm to the chrysanthemums. Except that they carry no flowers, the bed of double petunias and a batch of snapdragons, even after the frost, looked as fresh as in midsummer.

Early in the season these plants seem somewhat tender, but in the fall they scoff at frosts that wipe out dahlias, marigolds and the like. It seemed a shame that the petunias had to be pulled out to make way for tulips, but I did not want them even for cutting production, and I knew the multitude of budlike growth tips would not develop into flowers if the plants were potted and taken inside.

Green Until Freezing
I have, however, potted a small plant of Petunia parviflora to see what happens. This peculiar species grows like a creeping phlox, spreading out onto the path and remaining green until severe freezing. The flowers are so minute and dull colored, few would notice them, but seeds are dropped freely and each year a new crop appears. If it could be crossed with a larger flowered type and still retain its creeping habit, it would be splendid as an edging or as a rock plant.

BRIGHTEN YOUR HOME

DU PONT HOUSE PAINT IS SELF-CLEANING

Du Pont House Paint is the whitest paint you've ever seen—but that's not all. Du Pont House Paint protects against decay, rust, and rot.

Starts white, stays white

Du Pont House Paint is made with titanium dioxide, the pigment that's whiter than snow! So your house, newly painted with this remarkable paint, starts dazzling white. Further, it stays white, because...

It's self-cleaning

All paints collect dirt on exposure. But, with Du Pont House Paint, "self-cleaning" starts after a few months of normal weather conditions. A fine white powder forms on the surface. Heavy rains wash this away, carrying the dirt with it—leaving the newly exposed surface clean and white again! (Unusual climatic or dirt-collecting conditions in extremely sooty industrial communities may, of course, delay this process.) Because this "self-cleaning" is gradual, the wearing qualities of the paint film are not abnormally affected.

Despite this remarkable quality of Du Pont House Paint, it costs no more than other good paints. Also available in light colors.

Practical Facts About DDT
Unfortunately for American farmers, fruit growers and vegetable gardeners, DDT, the new insecticide has received too much publicity. Or perhaps it would be better to say it has received too much ill-advised publicity. This does not imply that DDT is not an excellent insecticide and a welcome addition to the weapons growers need to meet the increasing menace of destructive pests, but it does seek to inject a note of warning against over-enthusiasm, against the prevalent idea that this is at once the wonder chemical of the age.

A sounder view during the recent wave of excitement over DDT is the opinion of a prominent chemical manufacturer who offers the advice that DDT is a fine insecticide but still it is merely another insecticide and that within two or three years it will probably be surpassed by another and more effective chemical. Such has been the progressing history of the insecticidal industry.

Now, in the light of these somewhat sober statements, what are the insecticidal possibilities of DDT? In what roles is it most effective? Are there any unusual dangers attached to its free use against plant and house insect pests? Here are a few pertinent facts to answer these and related questions:

The designating letters DDT are derived from the full name of the chemical, dichloro - diphenyl - trichloroethane. It is a colorless, crystalline material not unlike in appearance but my efforts in that direction have failed. The growths root as they lie, so, if it did not seed, it would be easy to get young plants in the fall.

A lot of the leaves that have fallen are being allowed to remain. I could not pack anything so effectively among the Denticulata japonica and polyanthus primroses as the leaves have done themselves, and they also will be allowed to remain between the chrysanthemums, as the stem stumps will prevent them from blowing away. The delphinium and other perennial seedlings also will be left.—By A. A. Weston in the New York Herald Tribune.

SAYS SHORTAGE OF PHYSICIANS DELAYS EXAMS

Harrisburg, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Democratic state committee's assertion that "nothing as yet has been done" to effect health examinations of school employees and pupils in fourth class districts brought a state official's reply today "that isn't true at all."

Dr. J. Moore Campbell, deputy Secretary of Health, explained the Health Department has had difficulty in obtaining physicians, dentists and assistants to conduct the examinations under a 1945 law.

"That was anticipated by the Legislature itself," he noted. "It said, in the act, that under war conditions it might not be possible to put the act into effect 100 per cent."

The committee declared in a week-end statement that the program has been put into operation in most of the large districts, where administration largely is in the districts' hands, as contrasted with the situation in fourth class districts, which come entirely under the Health Department's administration.

Says Job To Be Done

To that, Dr. Campbell replied that in the cities, examining personnel are close to the schools, whereas busy country doctors and dentists are reluctant to take the time necessary to travel among widely-separated schools.

Organization of the teams "is going on, however," Dr. Campbell stated, and added: "The work is going to be done."

The Democratic state committee also raised a question about "where and how did the Martin administration accumulate the 'surplus' of $109,497,978.91 the governor has been talking about so much recently?" It answered its own question by stating the money came from special care, especially on vegetables and fruits soon to be eaten.

Readers who have questions they would like to ask on this new insecticide are invited to write the editor freely.

Weatherman Plans To Putter On Farm

Pittsburgh, Nov. 19 (AP)—Weatherman W. S. Brotzman, who will retire next February, is planning to move from his Brookside farms home here next month to a 45-acre farm near Kittanning in Armstrong county.

"I just couldn't sit around after I retire," Brotzman said "and the farm will be a fine place where I can putter around."

His retirement is required by federal emergency taxes enacted originally to provide funds for relief.

As for "considerable talk about tax reduction," the committee asserted "the only material reduction in taxes has come through the repeal of the emergency tax laws for relief purposes."

It asserted the Martin administration converted the special one-cent gasoline tax into a permanent levy to be paid into the motor license fund, and repealed the personal property tax and the tax on shares.

Woman Found Shot Beside Her Husband

Pittsburgh, Nov. 19 (AP)—The body of Helen Romano, 47, of Stowe township, was found in bed by her husband Saturday with a bullet wound in the chest and a revolver wrapped in a woolen sweater laying beside her.

Allegheny county ballistics expert James Davidson was ordered by police to take a wax mold of the woman's hands to determine if she had fired the gun.

County Detectives Michael Matsey and William Braun said the woman apparently had been dead seven to eight hours before the body was found.

EXPANSION IN RETAIL FOOD TRADES LOOMS

By OVID A. MARTIN

Washington, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Agriculture Department says it expects the wholesale and retail food trades to spend "hundreds of millions" of dollars next year on a broad expansion program.

Accumulated orders for all types of grocery manufacturing equipment alone were estimated at $600,000,000.

Reporting today on a series of surveys, the department said they indicated that the food trade will engage in extensive building of streamlined one-story wholesale plants, including refrigeration equipment and storage rooms for greatly expanded frozen food sales.

Likewise, many new super markets and suburban food shopping centers are expected to be built.

Likely to figure to some extent in the expansion of food processing will be government policy—still to be formulated—on the disposal of 56 food dehydration plants. These were financed by the government during the war at a cost of $12,000,000 to help supply Lend Lease and military needs.

Is Financially Strong
These government financed plants have an estimated yearly production capacity of 92,000,000 pounds of milk products, 36,000,000 pounds of vegetable products, and 45,000,000 pounds of fruit products.

There are, in addition, two government owned citrus concentrate plants in Florida, with an estimated yearly production of over a million gallons of concentrated citrus juice and a million pounds of a single strength juice.

In discussing the postwar situation of the food industry, the department said that it is in a relatively strong financial position.

Among problems ahead, the department added, is that of prospective population shifts as war production centers lose some of the population they gained during the war.

Plants Cooperate In Strike Voting

Pittsburgh, Nov. 19 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board is completing plans for a steel strike vote Nov. 28, in western Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia, the largest balloting of its kind in history. About 200,000 workers are involved.

Frank M. Kleier, regional NLRB director, said virtually all the 236 plants affected by the strike vote are cooperating with the NLRB in making the poll possible.

Only about ten per cent of the firms have refused to permit the balloting on company property, or have refused to furnish lists of eligible voters, he added.

Kleier said 500 temporary NLRB employees, including college students, have been hired to help tabulate the vote.

Donora Wins Second WPAL Gridiron Title

Latrobe, Pa., Nov. 19 (AP)—The football Dragons of Donora high school rule the roost in the WPAL class AA league for the second consecutive year.

Sparked by Don (Deacon) Towler with three touchdowns, the Dragons crushed New Kensington, 38-6, before 10,000 in St. Vincent college stadium Saturday in the playoff for the title.

The victory marked the 19th straight for Coach Jim Russell in two years.

RAMS NEED ONE VICTORY TO COP WESTERN TITLE

By JERRY LISK

Chicago, Nov. 19 (AP)—This is showdown week in the dynamite-filled National Football league race with the surprising Cleveland Rams and the rollicking Washington Redskins within grasp of the western and eastern division titles respectively.

The Rams can make Thanksgiving Day really worth celebrating when they risk their 7-1 record against the second-place Detroit Lions (6-2) in a turkey day mix at Detroit. A Ram victory would clinch the western diadem for Cleveland in the 10-game championship race.

The Redskins (6-1) can assure themselves of at least a tie for eastern laurels by whipping the Philadelphia Eagles (5-2) in their crucial skirmish at Philadelphia next Sunday. Once past the Eagles, Washington meets the hapless Pittsburgh Steelers and the New York Giants.

Eagles Win
The Rams, behind the brilliant passing of Rookie Bob Waterfield, squelched the Chicago Cardinals, 35-21, at Chicago yesterday to grab the undisputed western leadership as the Lions stumbled 35-14 before the pass-minded Giants at New York.

The tail-end Chicago Bears, with Sid Luckman passing to three touchdowns, gave the Redskins a healthy scare before Washington reverted to a classy running attack to finally triumph, 28-21.

The Eagles kept right on Washington's heels by walloping the Steelers, 30-6, with Steve Van Buren,

Carrier Christened In Philly Ceremony

Philadelphia, Nov. 19 (AP)—In a twin ceremony at the Philadelphia Navy Yard yesterday, the 27,000-ton carrier Valley Forge was christened and a sister ship, the USS Princeton, was commissioned.

The Valley Forge was financed by the league-leading groundainer, ramming to a pair of Philadelphia touchdowns.

The Green Bay Packers kept their mathematical chances of tying for the western title alive by trouncing the Yanks, 28-0.

TUGBOAT CREWS QUIT JOBS; UP IDLE TO 19,113

(By The Associated Press)
A strike of 700 port of Philadelphia tugboat workers put a little more bulge in the Pennsylvania strike-idle picture, upping the total not working to 19,113.

The deckhands, cooks and other unlicensed crewmen quit their jobs Sunday for the second time in two months. The walkout took place only four days after the union—United Harbor Workers, an affiliate of District 50, United Mine Workers—asked the National Labor Relations Board to conduct a strike vote.

The union refused to say why the strike was called. Tugboat operators said they knew "no cause" for the sudden walkout.

Meanwhile, a U. S. conciliator hoped to affect settlement "soon" of the strike of 70 American Tobacco company employees in Philadelphia. H. R. Colwell said representatives of the Food Tobacco and Allied Workers union (CIO) reported they would accept a five per cent wage increase retroactive to Aug. 18, a union shop and checkoff.

No Company Comment
Company spokesmen did not comment on the union offer.

The rest of the strike picture in the Keystone state looked this way:

Philadelphia—3,000 out at SKF Industries, Inc.; 40 at France Manufacturing company; 200 at K. E. Longergan company; 400 at Quaker City Iron Works and Philadelphia Valve Co., Inc.; 1,300 at Yale & Towne Manufacturing Co.; 200 at Bendix Aviation Corp.; 1,300 at General Electric company; 750 at Proctor Electric company.

Other areas—73 typographers and 500 truck drivers in Reading; 5,200 at Pittsburgh Plate Glass company plants at Creighton and Ford City; 400 at Kerotest Manufacturing Co., Pittsburgh; 450 at Shawmut Mining Co. pits at Byrnesdale, Hollywood and Force; 3,000 at Talon, Inc. plants at Meadville and Erie; 900 bus drivers and ticket sellers of Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines (mainly in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh).

STORK NEEDS HOME

Hollywood, Calif., Nov. 19 (AP)—Stuart Karbel, 23, an ex-paratrooper, is trying to find a landing place—down the main streets with a large for the stork. He is parading up and sign fastened to his neck.

On the front is a picture of a stork carrying a baby with the note: "No place to land." On his back is a picture of a tent with the query: "Must our child be born in a tent? Has anyone got an apartment?" Karbel says the baby is expected around Christmas. He and his wife came here seven months ago from Miami, Fla.

NO PROBLEM NOW

Albuquerque, N. M., Nov. 19 (AP)—It was night when Ernest Benjamin's car stalled in a ditch and some spilled gasoline went unnoticed in the dark.

A friend, studying means to extricate the vehicle, struck a match. Assistant Fire Chief Milton Grande said there wasn't enough car left for Benjamin to worry about.

Chapter 6
(Sunday 3:40 a. m. to 5:15 p. m.)
Inspector Venable seemed to think this information somewhat less than important. He asked a few more questions and said that would be all for now.

"You're worn out, Julia, dear," said Frank. "Why don't you go to bed and I'll take care of things here."

"Yes, that's a good idea," conceded the Inspector.

She said good night and went into her bedroom. She was glad to get away from that room.

She sat on the edge of her bed and stared into space. Her mind was crowded with bits of things she had seen and felt and heard. If I could put them all on a table and make them fit. She looked at the clock set in the night stand and saw it was 3:40—only two hours since Robey had been killed. She was sure of that—Robey had been killed.

There was a knock on the door and she said "Come in" a second time before it was opened.

"I thought you wouldn't mind having me around," said Virginia. She had pushed her hair back of her ears and her skin seemed to be pulled tightly over the fine bone structure of her thin face. She began unfastening the jade bracelets on her arms.

Julia's eyes clung to hers but she did not speak.

"Maybe crying would help." This last was in a lower tone but still cool—indifferent.

"Shall I sleep here or in Robey's room?"

"Oh, here. Here, please. I'll get you some night clothes. Is every one still out there?" She motioned wearily toward the door to the salon.

"They're all gone. All but Moore and a cop who is guarding the door—or is supposed to. Why, I don't know. Robey would be furious if he thought he'd have to have a co-star in his grand climax."

"You think he committed suicide?" Julia paused in the act of drawing off her stockings.

"I don't know. Let's sleep, old thing. I'm dead—yes, dead," Virginia finished deliberately.

After they had got in bed Julia dozed fitfully. The pale turquoise curtain that hung straight to the floor swayed restlessly in the uncertain breeze from the windows opposite the bed. The room was very dark except for the dim light that came from the court.

Once when she awoke she was trembling. She stared across the darkness at the windows. She could not see the curtains. Stifling a feeling of alarm she decided that Virginia had pulled the draperies together. She turned toward the other side of the bed and put out her hand.

At that instant she heard a thud as if someone had fallen in another part of the house. She sat up in bed quickly, automatically, then froze into immobility. The frantic beating of her heart roared in her ears.

She forced herself to move though it was like stepping into an abyss. She ran her hand over the other side of the bed. No one was there. Somehow she had known that Virginia was gone. Pictures of the girl falling flashed through her mind. She must find her quickly. Holding back the panic that threatened her she moved to meet this unknown danger.

Fearing to turn on the lights, she threw a dressing gown over her shoulders and circled the foot of her bed in silent bare feet. At the door to the salon she listened for a few seconds intently, ear against the wood. Once or twice she thought she heard some one moving about. If she could get to the policeman who was guarding the door, he would help her find Virginia.

She crossed the corner of the room to the door which opened into Robey's dressing room. It opened silently with a gentle push. Utter darkness greeted her. She could hear no sound but there was a pulsating quality in the blackness that made her want to scream out for help. It was as if voices were crying in out silently in the blackness. Time was endless on that trip across the dressing room and Robey's chamber. Each second is a balloon she thought, and these are all full blown, almost to the breaking point.

At last she reached the door to the foyer opening it cautiously. There was still no light! Surely the policeman would not sit there without a light.

The felt cold on her feet and she welcomed the soft wool of the square rug. Her groping hand touched the table that was in the center of the rug and she guided herself around it. Her foot touched something and she would have stumbled if she had not been moving so slowly. Instantly she was crouched low, feeling on the floor. It was a man lying on his stomach. Her hand crept up to find his head. She jerked it away. The head was sticky. She never knew what kept her from crying out. She didn't know who it was or whether he was alive or dead. But she saw another vision of a tall girl lying somewhere. Where was Virginia?

It occurred to her later that Virginia's could have been the hand that struck down the policeman on guard but that night no suspicion of the girl entered her head.

adskafchEsin g. rwg.-tds
She thought of Moore but shuddered at the thought of going back to arouse him. The closest bell to his room was the doorbell. The quickest means of getting aid was the telephone. It was inclosed behind a door flush with the wall near where she stood. The very air was inimical. She dared not move farther than she had to. The small door mas stuck a little and she worked carefully to open it without making a sound. A small creak escaped before it finally came out with a soft "plug!" Her hand had tightened on the handle to lift it before she realized that someone

TEMPLE EYES BOWLS AFTER GRID UPSET

Philadelphia, Nov. 19 (AP)—Cotton bowl dreams were a dime a dozen on the Temple university campus today—and the Owls' stunning 14-6 upset of undefeated and untied Holy Cross Saturday had a lot to do with the post-season aspirations.

Temple, conquered only once this year by Penn State, ended its season in grand fashion by toppling the Crusaders from the "perfect" class at Worcester, Mass. Holy Cross, ranked tenth nationally in The Associated Press poll, had been giving brave mention as a Sugar or Orange bowl candidate.

Now, if the rumor mill isn't talking through the proverbial hat, the was near her. She had a crazy thought that the man on the floor had risen to grab her. Then she was struck. Everything was blanked out instantly.

place in the Orange bowl on New Year's Day may become a Temple tidbit. And the Owls are reported hungry for a post-season fray.

Temple's triumph was one of three involving Pennsylvania college elvens; six other schools lost.

Swarthmore's Garnet eleven, like the Owls, also had a hand in cutting a name from the nation's undefeated and untied list, smacking down Johns Hopkins 26-13 at Swarthmore.

Army came to Franklin field, and the University of Pennsylvania—after only two minutes of play—wished the Cadets had stuck to their knitting at West Point.

Army annihilated the Quakers 61-0, tearing across the Penn goal line like it owned it. Cadet Coach Earl Blaik said Army played its best game of the year against Penn, though in pre-game predicting he figured the Red and Blue would give the future generals a tough battle.

Blak's players, however, did not enjoy their coach's pessimism as they easily swept to their 17th straight triumph.

The Nittany Lions of Penn State gave up the ghost for a bowl bid when they were dumped unceremoniously by an underdog Michigan State eleven at Lansing, Mich. 33-0

Buffalo Wins 7th Straight Ice Game

(By The Associated Press)
Buffalo has gone "hockey happy" and is beating down the doors of the city auditorium to see the Bisons continue their pace as the hottest team in the American Hockey league.

Lafayette lost again—12-7 to Atlantic City Naval Air Station at Easton. The Maroon has not won a game all year.

Indiana's stalwarts, aiming for their first Big Ten title in 50 years, went out of the conference—in an easy contest—to increase the University of Pittsburgh losing streak to six. It was Indiana 19 Pitt 0 after 60 minutes of play in the smoky city.

Drexel ended a disastrous season by losing its fifth in a row, 14-9, to the Lehigh Engineers at Philadelphia, while Scranton was whitewashed 12-0 by Boston college at Boston.

Indianapolis had to be content with a tie in Providence as the Rhode Island Reds came back with two scores in the last three minutes to even matters 3-3.

BONDS TO BUILD THEIR FUTURE

They won a war for us. But didn't they win something for themselves, too? This country, through the "G. I. Bill of Rights" has promised the veteran a better future, a chance for education, help in getting a job, help in getting loans for his home or to start a business of his own. It's up to us to back the "Bill of Rights" . . . back it with Bonds . . . Victory Bonds to help build new lives for the men who fought so hard and so effectively for victory.

Bonds for YOUR Future, too!

The dollars you lend the government do double duty! They help meet the tremendous expense of winding up the war; and they build future security for you!

Keep your money making money! Each $75 Victory "E" Bond will come back in 10 years as $100. So, in this last drive, buy all the Bonds you can . . . keep all the Bonds you buy!
